Wonders Of The Inca Empire: 18-24 FEB 2012

Day 1: Feb 18 '2012, Lima Port-Cusco-Pisac-Sacred Valley (L)

Reception at the Lima Cruise Port. Private transfer to the Lima Airport (LIM). Reception at Cusco Airport (CUZ). Private tour. Departure towards the Sacred Valley of the Incas. En-route we visit a native Alpaca farm. We proceed to the Pisac artisans and antiques Indian market. Time for shopping. Typical lunch (soup and salad) at Doña Clorinda's restaurant. We continue to the Pisac Inca Ruins. The Pisac ruins are some of the finest and largest in the entire valley. It appears to have been part city, part ceremonial center, and part military complex. We drive back to the Pisac Market along an extraordinary path that is itself a slice of local life. Trudging along steep mountain paths is still the way most Quechua descendants from remote villages get around these parts; many people you see at the Pisac market will have walked a couple of hours or more through the mountains to get there. Departure from Pisac to your selected hotel. 1-Night accommodation in the Sacred Valley.

Day 2: Feb 19, Machu Picchu Ruins (B/ L/ D)

Private transfer to the train station. Departure to Aguas Calientes. Luggage will be taken direct to your hotel. We continue by shuttle bus to the Machu Picchu Sanctuary to explore South America's most famous attraction. Invisible from the Urubamba Valley below, Machu Picchu lay dormant for more than 4 centuries, nestled nearly 2,400m (8,000 ft.) above sea level under thick jungle and known only to a handful of Amerindian peasants. Machu Picchu was Named a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1983 and declared in 2007 one of the "New Seven Wonders of the World". Lunch at famous Ruinas Hotel Restaurant. We return to Aguas Calientes for dinner and overnight.

Day 3: Feb 20, Machu Picchu-Ollantaytambo-Cusco (B/ D)

Free morning. Time to go back for a dawn visit to Machu Picchu on your own if you wish. Departure from Aguas Calientes by train to Ollantaytambo in the afternoon. The scenery surrounding Ollantaytambo is stunning: The snowcapped mountains that embrace the town frame a much narrower valley here than at Urubamba or Pisac, and both sides of the gorge are lined with Inca stone andenes, or agricultural terraces. Most extraordinary are the precipitous terraced ruins of a massive temple-fortress built by the Inca Pachacútec. Below the ruins, Ollantaytambo's old town is a splendid grid of streets dating to Inca times and lined with adobe brick walls, blooming bougainvillea, and perfect canals, still carrying rushing water down from the mountains. Reception at the train station and transfer. Folkloric show and dinner.

Stay over two nights in Cusco.

Day 4: Feb 21, Cuzco City Tour-Lima (B/ L)

08:00-13:00 Private guided city tour of Cuzco. Pachacútec was a huge military figure, the Inca responsible for creating a great, expansive empire. He made Cusco the capital of his kingdom, and, under his reign, the Incas built Qoricancha, the fortresses at Pisac and Ollantaytambo in the Sacred Valley, and mighty Machu Picchu. We visit the Main Square and the Cathedral. We travel around this Ancient Inca center to Sacsayhuamán. The stonework at these amazing ruins is spectacular. Incans didn't use cement or glue, they cut the stones with water and wood interlocking the stones perfectly. Lunch.

Day 5: Feb 22: (B/ L)

Free morning. Transfer to the airport. Fly to Lima. Reception at the Lima Airport. Transfer to hotel for accommodation. 2 nights at hotel in Lima.

7PM Dinner at Restaurant Huaca Pucllana www.resthuacapucllana.com situated in an unparalleled setting, within the compound of a 1,500-year-old adobe pyramid built by the original inhabitants of Lima, is one of the city's greatest dining surprises.

Day 6: Feb 23, Lima City Tour (B/ L/ D)

Private guided full day tour. We visit the magnificent 17th-century San Francisco Monastery and its unique cloisters. We stroll from the Plaza de Armas to the Government Palace and the Cathedral, and continue on to visit the Casa Aliaga, South America's best-preserved colonial mission. We drive south through the residential districts of San Isidro and Miraflores enjoying a spectacular view of the coastline along the way. We stop at Mangos Restaurant www.mangosperu.com for a delicious Peruvian lunch-buffet. We visit the famous Larco Herrera Museum and the Inca Market before returning to your hotel in the afternoon. 19:00 Private transfer to La Rosa Nautica Restaurant www.larosanautica.com for a farewell seafood dinner.

Day 7: Feb 24, Lima Departure (B)

Free day. Private transfer to the Lima Airport for departure.

All hotels, airfare and taxes included as well as specified meals (B,L,D). All stated tours included and all other transportation. Accommodation is deluxe. Entrance to Machu Picchu, Cusco & Sacsayhuaman also included. Tipping of guides not included.

Deviations cannot be arranged. Prices and itinerary are subject to change.
